Speeches in the Senate Drawing to a Close.

An Early Vote on Some of the Amendments Looked For

WASHINGTON Oct 27 Senator Voorhees is hopeful of a speedy conclusion to the debate in the Senate and said this morning that he thought there might be a vote to-day on some of the amendments The situation continues as it has since the collapse of the compromise and the Senate is settling down with as much patience as possible to listen to the speeches that are yet to be furnished

Mr Stewart took the floor at an early hour to-day for another instalment of speech, the indications being that this is the last Mr Morgan may have a few remarks to make and Mr Butler will when the opportunity presents its If Allen speak for fifteen or twenty minutes there are indications of a desire on the part of managers of the bill to spread the thing along and if speeches are drawn out the session may be extended into the evening a couple of hours so that one or more of the numerous amendments that have been or will be offered may be got out of the way

IT DWARFED THE AUGUST STORM

A Woman's Story of Escape from a Flooded Sea Island

A special to the World from Charleston S C says From accounts that have received the hurricane of October 13 has come to have been even more furious in some parts of the state than that of August 27 In the neighborhood of the town of Georgetown there are a number of small islands on which a few negroes live and it was there that the full fury of the storm was felt The tide which is always high and strong on that part of the coast, rose full five feet higher than usual, and everything was swept away before it

The rice crop was very slow coming in from that region on account of its inaccessibility, but it is believed that a large percentage of the negro population has perished These islands are all low and flat with very little high ground with few substantial trees such as would afford shelter Many of the islands are favorite summer resorts, on account of the extensive beaches On Pawleys Island alone it is positively known that many lives were lost, while on Magnolia Beach adjoining nineteen persons were drowned Among the victims were Dr A B Flagg and wife the two Misses Weston, of Summerville, Dr Arthur B Flagg Jr and wife Misses Rosalie and Alice Dubruco, five children and six colored servants

The following letter received by a gentleman in Charleston from a lady relative near Georgetown, gives some idea of the fury of the storm

"We thought the other storm dreadful, but it was nothing to compare with this Harry left the island yesterday morning, no one anticipating any danger there By eight o'clock at night the tide was very high, and by ten the house had to be abandoned We stayed as long as we could but we were afraid to trust the small leaky boat to the raging sea that divided us from the mainland Before we left the water was waist deep in the house The front was all gone and the back of the floors, and the piazza steps were crashing and shook and seemed about to come in Harry's house with everything in it, was swept away before our eyes as we sat in the boat holding it to the house with our hands on the roof Then, for two hours, we battled with the waves, trying to get over the short distance to the woods Uncle steered while we girls rowed, and still though we made almost a superhuman efforts the boat was beaten towards Crab Hall and the waves threatened to swamp us every minute When we reached the woods the water there was so deep that we could not find After a while the men got out, and dragged the boat, sometimes walking and sometimes hanging on to the boat, while we rowed Then we got out and waded ashore All the rest of the rice crop left by the August cyclone is ruined, I fear

The effect of this latest disaster will be practically to extend the desolated area forty or fifty miles further Georgetown is north of Charleston and hitherto nearly all the suffering has been on the islands lying south of here The damage by the latter storm appears to have been more, and the suffering will therefore be greater Besides adding hundreds to the number of people who will have to be supported, this storm had greatly increased the suffering among the original sufferers Hundreds of these were drenched with rain and sea water, and there will be much pneumonia

OLEOMARGARINE WAR

Constables Notified of Their Duty as to Butter Imitators

The Philadelphia Press of Wednesday says Notice will be sent out to-day to all the constables of this city by Dairy and Food Commissioner Eastburn Reeder, instructing them that it is their duty to report to the Courts of Quarter Sessions all violations of the oleomargarine act Accompanying these notices will be printed copies of the act, which requires these reports to be made quarterly

Commissioner Reeder is getting this because he is preparing to exterminate the illegal sale of oleo in this city

The Press printed about a week ago the news that this Commissioner was making a systematic investigation of the city, and that discoveries of illegal tables were being made by him Upon giving notice to the proprietors of the dairies the Commissioner will also include in the same letter a list of all other dealers against the oleomargarine act and will require the constables to bring them before the Court

The Commissioner has unearthed a number of frauds in the past several days He says that he has a prima facie case against five wholesale dairymen and about seventy retailers, and about the same number of the latter will be sent to the constables, together with the evidence that can be collected against other violators of the act as soon as possible

Just how far the fraudulent selling oleomargarine as butter is carried on in this city is not known, but the Commissioner is pretty well satisfied that the extent is great Oleomargarine is put up in the same way as butter, stamped and sold Round, half pounds and prints In tub or bucket or bulk it is just the same, but in bulk it is sold for what it would bring as butter When the manufacturer sells it to the retailer the only evidence that it is oleo is in the presence of the letter stamp If it is sold in bulk, stamped and delivered in the same way as butter and on the bill only the word butter is used It was evident from the manner in which the steward had stamped many pounds for his self and been delivered to the other officers

Butler & Hamilton counsel for the Commissioner, stated yesterday to the reporter that copies of the act of May 23 last will be sent to all the institutions to forward them so that by ignorance of the law it cannot be pleaded Not in any institutions there have been investigated and the Commissioner is unable to say how many sales there have been making money by selling oleo

In speaking of oleomargarine the Commissioner said yesterday "It is decidedly injurious It produces dyspepsia Nothing further need be said Take butter into your mouth and it will dissolve If placed to the roof of the mouth Butter will dissolve under a heat of 80 degrees on the natural heat of a person Not so with oleo It takes 100 to 120 degrees Put some butter mouth and [illegible] Put some oleo in the stomach It forms it self into a ball and dyspepsia results The best evidence that oleo is not a healthful product is the fact that manufacturers of oleo do not use it on their tables They would never do it and yet they erect up oleo as a luxury for the poor people and say it is as good as butter

SURVEYING A HOME

A Clever Thief Who Buys Nothing and Who Wants for Nothing

A Kansas City dispatch says Kansas City has developed one of the most unique thieves that has yet been heard of in real life Several months ago the police force learned that a thief was making depredations upon clothing and pantries and even on outlying grocery stores and carry off canned goods and such eatables as were not perishable

The crimes could not be traced to any one in particular, although the police believed that they were all done by the same person but there was no clue by which they could follow to extract the thief After a time, a goodly quantity of food on which to start housekeeping the thief began on fuel and wholesale cartloads were carried away, each case showing the evidences of the food stuff Then the fuel supply of coal was taken, the thief turned his attention to furniture, and carried off articles of all kinds from a light chair to a heavy bedroom set with mattresses An entire bedroom set was taken from a house and no trace left The family was absent for a night and on their return they found their room despoiled

Having furnished his bedroom and pantry the depredator set about getting his kitchen in order and first an ice chest was taken from a house in Armourdale and then a cooking stove and kitchen table from a house in Rosedale By this time the police were fully alive to the fact that the stealing was going on right under their noses and they began to talk about the queer thief This attention seems to have flattered the thief for he signalized his presence next by carrying off a large base burner stove from a parlor in Kansas City Kan while the family was spending the evening with a neighbor This occurred last week and since then it appears that the man has his furniture, food, and fuel for the winter, for the depredations have ceased

Another phase, however, seems to have broken out and that is evident that a member of the thief's family has sickened and died A few days ago a drug store was broken into, and medicine taken and the night the clothes was reached which the thief went to the cemetery out on the Quindaro boulevard and carried off a tombstone There is a talent here that shows the development of a system that would be a bank and the police are very anxious to make the acquaintance of the thief

A FIREMAN'S STORY.

This One Is of Strong and Peculiar Interest

From a Life of Severe Exposures and Hardships

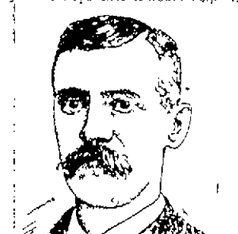
The Future Buffalo (N Y) Fire Department Know This to be True

Direct and tell exciting, and thrilling experiences

Theirs is a life of the severest exposure and hardship If you get the best men in the world, that their work is of the most severe

Here is an experience which is certainly interesting, and may be of value It is told by George B Monroe of 37 Franklin Street Buffalo N Y who has been a member of the Buffalo fire department for a long time and is well and favorably known in that city

I was a member of Engine Co No 1 of the Buffalo Fire Department for a period of 14 years I took cold while exercising, and by exposure and hardships to which I was subjected while on duty at fires, I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble, which finally developed into Bright's disease of the kidneys I was under the care of two physicians, but they did not relieve me, and I finally gave up all hope of ever getting well



About this time I noticed a statement in the paper of a case similar to mine, which had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills I procured a box and before I had taken half of the contents I felt that they were helping me I continued their use for about two months and was entirely cured I have had no return of the trouble in the past two years, and have never been troubled with backache

I feel sure that Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, for this is what the pills are called now Before using it I did not know what sleep was for over two months I cheerfully recommend this medicine to all who are suffering with kidney disease or backache

As the above proves, Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is an absolutely sure cure for rheumatism and neuralgia and it will always and quickly cure all backache, or any of the aches and pains so prevalent at this season of the year You have only to use them as directed for the cure of its beneficial effects It is purely vegetable and therefore harmless, sold by druggists for $1

Doctors recommend it for loss of flesh, scrofula, consumption or any disease arising from impure blood or nervous prostration It gives instant relief in cases of nervous and chronic headache Doctor can be consulted free personally or by letter

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1893

The Brooklyn Eagle has joined the procession of other Democratic papers in New York, after taking some time for reflection, and announces without qualification that Maynard, the election returning thief, ought to be defeated by an outraged public. We do not imagine that Senator Hill, with all of his audacity, would class the Eagle's arraignment of Maynard as the work "of our political opponents."

Senator Hill declares that he is a Democrat, but the New York Sun after reading his Brooklyn speech and comparing it with the Chicago platform insists that he is unconstitutional. The man who advocates protection in any form is not a constitutional Democrat according to the party creed, which the Sun does not intend shall be overlooked, even though the party is now confronted by a condition and not a theory.

While the Ways and Means Committee carefully guards its programme for attacking American industries, an occasional ray of light escapes from the subterranean depths where the work is now in progress. It is said that the free list has been practically agreed upon. In the lumber schedule the additions to the free list will, it is said, be extensive, and we might add expensive to Maine lumbermen. According to late reports from Washington they will include clapboards, shingles, laths, pickets and palings, sawed lumber not planed or finished, timber used for spars and in building wharves and timber hewn and sawed, squared or sided. If this programme is carried out Maine will pay dearly for the "change" in the Administration.

Some Facts to Remember.

Massachusetts' Australian ballot reform Governor Russell, has taken the stump in the interest of the candidacy of the other Russell, who was prevailed upon to permit the use of his name after the present Governor and several other members of the party had decided that 1892 was not a healthy year for Democrats. A year ago Governor Russell was a calamity howler when calamity was unknown in this country, but now that he is brought face to face with the real article he is making a vigorous attempt to sugar coat the dose, in the hope that his party may escape the consequences of the panic into which it has plunged the country.

The great trouble with Governor Russell appears to be that his orotund powers exceed his reasoning powers, otherwise he would be able to appreciate the humor of his position. For the want possibly of some better defense of the condition brought about by the Democratic party, he admits the business depression, but insists that it is due solely to the Sherman law. This is absurd, but suppose for the moment we accept the Governor's view of the case, what then is the attitude of the Democratic party? Since the seventh day of last August a Congress Democratic in both branches has permitted the country to suffer under the workings of this law, when it had the votes necessary to repeal it at once, and thus afford the very relief essential to a restoration of prosperity, according to Democratic statements. Here then is a party claiming to know the real cause of our business ills, with the power to legislate them out of existence and yet refuses to furnish the remedy. Assuming all that Governor Russell says to be true, what possible excuse can be made for the failure of the party to act in this alleged emergency?

The neoclassical Governor then goes on to say the statement that the Sherman law was adopted to prevent the passage of a free coinage bill is false and no intelligent man believes it." The Governor may have a standard of intelligence different from that in general use, but surely any man with sufficient intelligence to read and understand the plain record knows that the Democratic Senators and Representatives in Congress voted against the Sherman law, not because they were opposed to the purchase of silver, but because it was not radical enough to meet their wishes. It may be well to recall the history of this law in view of the Democratic misrepresentation.

In the House in 1890 Mr. Bland offered a resolution directing the Coinage Committee to report a Free Coinage bill. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 149 to 116. Fourteen Republicans and 102 Democrats voted for the resolution and 127 Republicans and 13 Democrats against it. On this vote the Republicans gave a majority of nine to one against free coinage, while the Democrats gave a majority of eight to one in favor of it. The House passed what was then known as the Conger bill and sent it to the Senate.

In that body a Free Coinage bill was substituted by a vote of 43 to 24. Fifteen Republicans and 28 Democrats voted for the substitute bill and 21 Republicans and 3 Democrats voted against it. The Senate showed a Republican majority of six in favor of sound money, while the Democratic majority in favor of free silver was nearly ten to one. When the bill went back to the House the vote stood 135 in favor of the substitute and 119 against it. Twenty-two Republicans voted for the substitute and 130 against it. On the Democratic side of the House 113 voted for the substitute and only 22 opposed. Then the Sherman law was adopted as a compromise, or as President Cleveland stated in his message, a "truce," after a long struggle between the sound money Republicans and free silver Democrats.

In the present contest a clear Democratic majority voted for the old Bland law in the House where the repeal bill was only saved from defeat by the Republicans, while in the Senate thirty-nine Democrats recently signed a paper in favor of a compromise which was abandoned simply because the Republicans refused to have anything to do with it.

In view of this record it will be seen that Governor Russell has not aided the cause of Democracy by attributing our business troubles to silver legislation.

The President and the Compromisers.

While some of our Republican contemporaries are according the President unstinted praise for what they are pleased to term his steadfast devotion to the cause of repeal, Senator Pugh, a member of the President's own party, declared in open Senate that the compromise programme was arranged with the full knowledge of the President, the members of the Senate "steering committee" being in daily communication with the Administration or its representatives. Concerning this incident the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes:

"This public statement by Mr. Pugh that the compromise was formulated with the full knowledge of the President and Secretary [illegible] compromise true, no matter what may be said to the contrary. No sensible man in Washington believes for a moment that Mr. Lindsay, of Kentucky; Mr. Gray, of Delaware; Mr. White, of Louisiana; Mr. Palmer, of Illinois, and the staunch friends of the Administration signed the compromise bill without having satisfactory assurance that it would not be opposed by the Administration.

"The direct connection between the Steering Committee and Secretary Carlisle on Saturday forenoon, when the compromise was agreed upon, is beyond dispute. The fact that the coinage of the seigniorage was incorporated in the bill at the suggestion of Mr. Carlisle is not denied. The bill was agreed upon on Saturday. Its contents were printed in the afternoon newspapers here, and it was discussed everywhere.

"Not a word of opposition was heard from the Administration until 11 o'clock on Sunday night. Then Secretary Carlisle and Secretary Gresham, on their return from a long conference with the President, were opposed to the compromise and would not approve it.

"A question is pertinently asked here, if the Administration was opposed to the compromise from the start, why did it wait from Saturday noon until 11 o'clock Sunday night to make the fact known? Why was it necessary for Secretary Carlisle to first consult with Senator Sherman on Sunday afternoon and with other persons before the Administration reached the conclusion that it would not have the compromise?

"The statement was made to-day by a Democratic Senator that Mr. E. C. Benedict, the well known New York broker and intimate personal friend of Mr. Cleveland, came to Washington on Sunday and saw the President and urged him to oppose the compromise.

"This influence and that of Senator Sherman, combined with the newspaper attacks on the compromise bill, evidently caused the Administration to change from a passive, if not a friendly, attitude, to an outspoken opposition to the proposed substitute.

"Secretary Carlisle told Democratic Senators to believe that the Administration favored the compromise, and the President himself had said enough to Democratic Senators to convince them that Mr. Carlisle was right.

"The shameful proposition to coin the seigniorage is still held in abeyance by the Administration as one to be resorted to in preference to the issue of bonds, and all the Administration Senators favor it, including Mr. McPherson and those who did not sign the compromise bill."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PROLONG LIFE.

One of the things which life insurance does is to prolong life. It is a notorious fact in experience that it is worry and not work that kills. Every friction engendered by the complex of social machine, which we call civilization tends to every person like of the busy man, and whatever continuously destroys our power of mental exertion over the forces to a man of average condition is fatal sooner or later. I ought that the love of wife and prospective children would, in the event of the death, be left in the influence of poverty, or, so far as life is concerned, a source of daily anxiety to the wife, and of the most prostrating sorrow next to her loss. On the contrary, the insurance policy guarantees comfortable provision which would be gone, to both a sensitive and a noble to endure in such a sick bed, as to cause serious interference with their recovery. Life assurance helps a man to keep well, and, when ill, helps him to get well, and [illegible] a prolonger of life.—Insurance Chronicle.

KID GLOVES.

A PRESENT WITH EVERY PAIR.

Probably very few, if any, ladies, when purchasing a pair of Kid Gloves and possibly finding fault with the price have any idea of the care and labor required in the selection of the skins, the cutting and making of such goods, as will be accepted at the present day as first-class. Every season brings new ideas and novelties in the trade, and the gloves worn a few years ago by the fastidious world would not be tolerated to-day. Kid Gloves are an important branch in many dry goods stores at the present time, but few have the faculty of managing this department with any profit to themselves or satisfaction to their customers.

One reason is they buy poor goods in order to sell them cheap, as the public are always clamoring for something cheap, and when bought, never satisfied.

We have spent years in studying the best way to manage a Kid Glove department, and long ago we became convinced that we could not build up a lasting business on cheap goods; that the best gloves to be had were the cheapest in the end, whilst poor gloves were not cheap at any price.

Without being egotistical, we believe we carry one of the best stocks of Kid Gloves this side of Boston. We sell them at a small profit; in fact, just the same prices they are sold in the larger cities.

We support many of our Kid Gloves ourselves and therefore are obliged to buy in large quantities. In order to reduce our large stock we will give a nice present with every pair of Kid Gloves sold, until further notice, to customers who apply before eleven o'clock A.M.; after eleven no presents will be given.

UNDERWEAR.

We are making more of a specialty of Underwear this season than ever before. We can furnish almost any kind of a garment in the market. Union Suits from $1.50 to $3.75. Swiss and Wool Tights in all prices. Swiss and Wool Vests in Black, Grey and White, also the best goods that can be had, at 25c, 39c, 50c.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Mr. Peffer's Amendment to Silver Bill Defeated.

Much Excitement Attended the Vote in Senate.

A Noisy Session of the House for a Time.

Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct 27 The Senate resumed debate on the silver purchase repeal bill Mr Stewart, Republican, of Nevada, following up his speech where he left off last evening

Mr Stewart continued his speech against the repeal bill He ventured to predict that if Mr Voorhees bill, with the promise of bimetallism in it, went to the President it would never receive his signature That promise would be taken out in the House of Representatives or in a conference committee in some other way and failing that the President would never sign the bill He would let it become a law without his signature

The President was not going to give any such promise

Mr Stewart at 1 30 o'clock yielded to Mr Jones, of Nevada

At 3 45 P M Mr Jones pleaded that he was somewhat tired and said he would prefer to finish to-morrow what little he had to say He hardly knew whether to call his remarks argument or an obituary, for he took it for granted that the cause he had defended was practically lost

Mr Voorhees asked for a vote on the pending question

The Vice-President—The question is on the amendment offered by the Senator from Kansas, Mr Peffer

Mr Allen called for a reading of the amendment

It provides for the coinage of silver dollars deposited by any owner thereof, as under the act of January 18 1837, revives and re-enacts that act, and repeals all acts inconsistent therewith Mr Peffer said We do not intend to in this way any factious opposition but we intend at every stage of the bill to interpose determined resistance and determined opposition

No further objection was interposed to taking a vote on Mr Peffer's amendment It was then called much excitement The vote was announced as yeas 29 nays 39

The following is the vote in detail

Yeas—Messrs Allen Bate, Berry, Colquitt, Butler Call Coke Daniel, Dubois George Harris Irby, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, Kyle, Martin, Pasco Peffer, Power, Pugh, Roach, Shoup Stewart Teller, Vance, Voorhees, Walsh Wolcott

Pairs—Messrs Lodge and Gordon Squire and Mitchell of Oregon Brice and Cameron, Mills and Hansbrough, Chandler and White of California Colquitt and Wilson Cockrell and Allison Hawley and Morgan, Hunton and Platt

Mr Voorhees then asked unanimous consent to have the vote taken on his substitute to the House bill with the understanding that it then be treated as the original measure open to amendments After some discussion of the request it was conceded that a vote be taken on the substitute and it was agreed to yeas, 39 nays, 6

The negative votes were Messrs Allen, Butler Call, Coke, Irby Kyle, Peffer, Roach and Vance The substitute was agreed to Strikes out the whole of the House bill and inserts in lieu of it so much of the act approved July 14, 1890 as directs the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of four million five hundred thousand ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered thereon at the market price thereof not exceeding one dollar for three hundred and seventy one and twenty five one-hundredths grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment treasury notes of the United States and the same is hereby repealed.

And it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver as the standard money and coin of the people of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value Value shall equally to be secured through an international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as will insure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in payment of debts

It is hereby further declared that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such safe system of bimetallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in payment of debts

Mr Perkins then offered an amendment which proposes to open the mints to the coinage of silver of the proved American production at the parity of 16 to 1 with the coinage of subsidiary silver, with the exception of 20 per cent to be paid into the treasury

No further objection was interposed to taking a vote on Mr Peffer's amendment It was then called much excitement The vote was announced as yeas 29 nays 39

Pairs—Messrs Colquitt and Gordon Squire and Mitchell of Oregon Brice and Cameron, Mills and Hansbrough, Chandler and White of California Colquitt and Wilson Cockrell and Allison Hawley and Morgan, Hunton and Platt

Mr Voorhees then asked unanimous consent to have the vote taken on his substitute to the House bill with the understanding that it then be treated as the original measure open to amendments After some discussion of the request it was conceded that a vote be taken on the substitute and it was agreed to yeas, 39 nays, 6

The negative votes were Messrs Allen, Butler Call, Coke, Irby Kyle, Peffer, Roach and Vance The substitute was agreed to Strikes out the whole of the House bill and inserts in lieu of it so much of the act approved July 14, 1890 as directs the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of four million five hundred thousand ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered thereon at the market price thereof not exceeding one dollar for three hundred and seventy one and twenty five one-hundredths grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment treasury notes of the United States and the same is hereby repealed.

It is hereby further declared that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such safe system of bimetallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in payment of debts

Mr Perkins then offered an amendment which proposes to open the mints to the coinage of silver of the proved American production at the parity of 16 to 1 with the coinage of subsidiary silver, with the exception of 20 per cent to be paid into the treasury

No gold pieces of less denomination than $10 are to be coined silver dollars may be exchanged at the treasury into legal tender notes of not less denomination than $10 A commission of five members experts is to be appointed whose duty shall be to keep Congress and the executive advised on all necessary matters relating to the currency

If the bill as passed during which Mr Teller said he would vote for the original measure rather than the substitute has favored the free coinage of American silver.

Still if it is passed it would be some relief to the silver producing States and agree to relief to the people of the United States He did not disguise the fact that the policy of his State were about to go through the shadow of the valley of death He knew what it was to turn over 20 000 silver mine out of work in the fall of the year The States of Nevada and Colorado he said had been Republican for many years they stood by their eastern brethren who believed in the protective system, even when it would have been their interest to vote against it

"How much aid," Mr Teller asked with great feeling, "have we had from them? How much sympathy? How much support? We are entitled to at least a little sympathy We will not at all on the faith which is in us, but when we shall be asked to yield funds, not to their judgment on questions in which we have no local interest, things then will not be surprised if we do not sympathize with them, as we have done in the past

"This great controversy ought to have been settled by compromise and concessions Let me say it is for Colorado We owe the East large sums of money The people of the East who forced these conditions upon us will not find us refraining by refusing to pay our debts We shall pay the last farthing When I speak of Colorado, I speak of all silver producing States If your great railroads in that country cannot pay the interest on the bonds that you hold that is not our fault

"But our personal obligations we will pay The men who own the money of the world know that if they can put this country on a gold standard and keep it there five years, they will have put the world on that standard Then we return to the condition of things which existed prior to the discovery of gold in California Prices will go lower and lower Individual opportunities will be less and less

"I am not a pessimist, but I cannot contemplate this condition of things without absolute terror I want to utter this as a warning to the American people, if they do not now resist they will enter upon a system of industrial slavery which will be the worst known to the human race"

There was great solemnity in Mr Teller's manner, mingled with the deepest respect and sympathy Mr Wolcott rose to speak, but yielded the floor and the Senate took a recess until 11 to-morrow.

House

Mr Weadock, of Michigan, introduced a privileged resolution. It directed an investigation into the right of Mr Linton, of Michigan, who represented the eighth district of that State to sit in the House. He stated that the right of Henry M Youmans to the seat occupied by Mr Linton to inquired into and it should be declared vacant. Mr Linton was entitled to the seat because he received a majority of the votes cast in the district at the election.

Mr Weadock thereupon took up the attack on the American Protective Alliance, but his remarks were lost in the storm which broke about his head, in which Mr Hopkins and Mr Dingley, of Maine, took a prominent part. When he could be heard again he announced that owing to the opposition encountered, he would withdraw the resolution until the member most affected, Mr Linton, should be present to speak in his own behalf, and in defence of the American Protective Alliance

Mr Springer, of Illinois, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information concerning the operation of State banks, together with the number which had failed and the amount lost since 1830 The resolution encountered great opposition On the call of the roll on the question of agreeing to the resolution, no quorum voted The House at 3 10 adjourned until Monday

Arthur Deming In A Stranger

Arthur Deming in 'A Stranger' will appear at the Opera House next Wednesday night

A new broom sweeps clean is a saying as old as it is true Arthur Dening of minstrel fame, has introduced this new broom into minstrelsy by allying his forces with sweet & DeCourcey a first class Comedy Company, an organization entirely new for this season, an infusion of new blood and new ideas that will please the public, it is said There is no person more so popular, no performer so gifted by that manager and artist and both benefited by an occasional change Hence this alliance There are two shows in one a harmonious blending of modern minstrelsy and progressive farce-comedy The artists include among others the Musical Mowatts, Sparks and Hiatt, the Imperial Quartette Boston mandolin cornetto troupe of French artists and quadrille dancers and vocalists and comedians whose names are sufficient to the patronizing public And then there's Arthur Deming

MANY DESOLATE HOMES.

The Changeable Weather of October and November Has Serious Effect Upon Improperly fed Babies.

"Home, Sweet Home"—The author of the most touching lines ever written had no home; born in New York, he died in Algiers.

Many parents to-day who live in fine houses are homeless—the baby has gone.

The changeable weather in October and November brings desolation into many homes because of mistakes in baby's food.

Practical men of science, physicians, and philanthropists, long considered infant feeding the greatest medical problem, and the most valuable practical outcome of their many investigations was lactated food.

Lactated food should now be fed to babies in preference to anything else but absolutely wholesome breast milk. The most successful physicians use lactated food exclusively. It is the purest, the most nutritious and the most easily assimilated infant food. It is retained on the stomach when other food is rejected. It builds up the strength when summer complaints have brought dangerous weakness.

Profound knowledge of infant diseases has guided in the preparation of lactated food. It is the nearest to safe substitute to mother's milk. It counteracts the weakness and resulting emaciation of diarrhœa. It sustains the strength and supplies rich blood and solid bone. Lactated food is a triumph of human intelligence in successfully combating infant disorders.

CANNIBALISM IN SAGHALIEN.

Convicts in Eastern Siberia Driven by Hunger to Eat Their Companions.

The Japan Mail brings the following story of cannibalism in Eastern Siberia: The last number of the Hakvoslock, a newspaper published in Eastern Siberia, records a terrible state of affairs among the convicts on the island of Saghalien. It would appear that the convicts there have been treated by some of the subordinate prison authorities so harshly that the Governor of the island has been obliged to interfere for their protection. A warder named Khanoff and some of his assistants, who at one time were convicts themselves and had been raised to the rank of jailers, have been removed from their posts. Khanoff's treatment of the prisoners was so abominable that a number of them crippled themselves, cutting off fingers and toes in order to be treated as invalids and to be freed from his terrible cruelties. Others fled to the impenetrable forest, where they suffered all the horrors of hunger.

"In a satchel belonging to a fugitive convict who had been hunted down were found pieces of human flesh." Investigation revealed that this man had been one of a party of four, and that only one of them now remained. The others had been killed and devoured by their comrades."

THE GIFT OF CITIZENS.

Presentation of Silver Service to the New Cruiser New York.

A New York despatch says: The presentation of a handsome service of silver to the cruiser New York, took place at 2 o'clock Wednesday on board the warship at the navy yard wharf in Brooklyn. The service is the gift of the citizens of New York, and the money was raised by public subscription.

The formalities were very simple. At 1.55 a navy tug took the guests from New York to the Brooklyn navy yard. Hon. Amos J. Cummings, chairman of Naval Committee of the House of Representatives, made the presentation speech. Capt. Phillip acknowledged the gift.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
